ART AND CULTURE SPILL ONTO THE STREETS AT SINGAPORE NIGHT FESTIVAL

A nocturnal extravaganza of spectacular aerial performances, music, dance and installation artworks at the heart of Bras Basah Bugis precinct, Singapore's arts and heritage district.

The main events and special events with late night openings will take place at cultural venues such as the National Museum of Singapore, the Peranakan Museum, Singapore Art Museum and The Substation and more! Treat your senses to an outdoor showcase of spectacular interactive light installations, and immerse yourself in a vibrant showcase of heritage, arts and culture in Singapore.

In conjunction with Singapore Night Festival, National Heritage Board will be presenting Night Lights, an outdoor showcase of spectacular light installations. Night Lights 2013, which promises to be a visual feast for all to enjoy, will feature light installations at Singapore Art Museum, National Museum of Singapore, The Cathay, School of The Arts and Raffles City.

ENJOY LATE NIGHT FREE ADMISSION TO THE FOLLOWING NHB MUSEUMS

Special Exhibition at National Museum of Singapore: "Princely Treasures from the House of Liechtenstein"
Ends Sun 29 September 2013
7pm-2am

Collected over 500 years, over 90 masterpieces from the exquisite art collection of the Prince of Liechtenstein will be travelling to Singapore for the first time. This exhibition is exemplary of the highly cultivated choice in art, with artworks ranging from paintings, prints and engravings, tapestries, sculptures to rare decorative art objects. Significant works by important Flemish artists like Rubens and Anthony van Dyck, as well as those by other renowned European masters such as Raphael and Lucas Cranach the Elder, will be showcased to celebrate the High Renaissance, Baroque, Neo-classical and Biedermeier that span from the late 15th century to the mid 19th century, all of which characterise the European way of articulating authority, power and wealth of the ruling houses.

In addition, a selection of 16 oil paintings from the National Collection will be displayed to draw links to the art of portraiture in Singapore's historical context, exploring how it was an important representational mode between the late 19th and mid 20th century.

Special Exhibition at Peranakan Museum "Luminous Depths: A Contemporary Project on the Museum"
Ends Sun 22 September 2013
6pm-2am

This installation in the atrium of the Peranakan Museum explores the nature of collecting, and asks how a museum develops. The artist Lee Mingwei invites visitors to participate and, as they do so, perhaps be inspired to think about objects, and memories, and how they are preserved. Audience participation will also contribute permanently to the museum's collection.

Special Exhibition at Singapore Art Museum Terms & Conditions
Ends Sun 8 September 2013
7pm-2am

A contemporary installation in the atrium of the Terms & Conditions presents an open-ended debate into how history and social realities are represented, with an emphasis on the Arab world. One of the first Southeast Asian surveys of contemporary art from this dynamic region, the exhibition showcases works by artists with roots in the Arab world. These artists work across different geographic and cultural contexts, and through a combination of techniques, to produce unique artworks that fluidly traverse and defy social identities and representations.
