INFORMATION ON CHARACTER DEVELOPMENT AWARD

Introduction

The Character Development Award (CDA) is positioned under the domain of 'Character Development' in the Masterplan of Awards. There are two categories of awards: the Development Award (DA) and Outstanding Development Award (ODA). The Outstanding Development Awards (ODA) for Character Development recognise schools that have innovative, sustainable and exemplary approaches.

Rationale for the Award

2. Character development is a key component of holistic education, and schools put in much effort towards it. The Character Development Award is instituted to recognise these efforts.

Criteria for the Award

3. The CDA focuses on schools' efforts in developing character, namely the structures and processes which are in place in the school for character development.

4. The criteria for CDA are based on fundamental principles and approaches highlighted in research as critical for development of character in children. Three areas are looked into:

- leadership,
- culture; and
- processes, systems & structures.

5. Award-winning schools demonstrate that their character development strategies, goals and directions are coherent and given priority in their school mission and the strategies are systematically implemented and monitored.

Evaluation Process for CDA

6. Applications for the CDA open in October of each year. Interested schools submit their applications by mid-November, followed by their reports by January of the following year.

7. The evaluation process is led by teams of notable professionals drawn from industry, the community, and the education field. The process includes a thorough study of the report submitted and site-visits to shortlisted schools where interviews with school personnel, students, parents and other stakeholders are conducted.

8. For the year 2006 CDA, a total of 115 applications were received; 13 schools received the ODA, and 74 schools received the DA.

Schools that attained the Outstanding Development Award for Character Development [ODA (CD)] this year

9. The schools awarded ODA (CD) have very clear mission and vision for Character Development which are aligned to their school mission and vision. They have clear systems and processes in place to deliver their Character Development programmes. School-wide programmes are designed creatively and implemented to address the different needs of the students. Character development in these schools has been inculcated as the shared responsibility of the school, home and community.

Reading the School Achievement Tables

1. The key features of the School Achievement Tables are as follows (see Figure 1 for annotated explanations):

- a. The first column shows the absolute academic performance based on the 2005 GCE examinations. Schools are put in O-level bands.
- b. Schools that receive the School Distinction Award (🏆) and School Excellence Award (🏆) are indicated by the respective symbols in the next column. These two awards are the top MOE awards for schools.
- c. Awards won by schools in the various domains (academic value-added, physical & aesthetics, character development) as well as the Best Practice Awards are indicated in the remaining columns. For these awards, clear stars (☆) refer to Level One Awards, while solid stars (★) refer to Level Two Awards.

2. For example, in Figure 1, Foundation Secondary School is in Band 3 in terms of absolute academic performance for its Special/Express course, with an average L1B5 score 12 points after rounding down to the nearest integer. Three other schools are in the same band with similar academic performance.

3. From Figure 1, we can see that Foundation Secondary School has also won several awards:

- a. It has won the School Distinction Award, denoted by the medal (🏆).
- b. For the Academic Value-added domain, it has won two Level One Academic Value-added Awards: one for Special/Express course, and another for Normal course. These are denoted by the clear stars (☆) in the “Academic Value-added” column.
- c. For the Academic Value-added domain, it has also won a Level Two Sustained Achievement Award for Academic Value-added. This is denoted by the solid star (★) in the “Academic Value-added” column.
- d. For the Physical & Aesthetics domain, it has won two Level Two Sustained Achievement Awards. These are denoted by solid stars (★) in the “Physical & Aesthetics” column.
- e. For the Character Development domain, it has won a Level One Development Award. This is denoted by a clear star (☆) in the “Character Development” column.
- f. For Best Practice Awards (BPA), it has won the BPA. This is denoted by the solid star (★) in the “Best Practice Awards” column.
